

ABSTRACT

A profitable information management system and method for soliciting and publishing classified advertisements offering a reward (CORs) and related services are disclosed. The CORs include, but are not limited to, promises to pay a reward amount specified by an advertiser to anyone who performs conditions named in the advertisement, and anyone who performs the conditions as a solver to the satisfaction of the advertiser receives the reward amount from the advertiser.